Disclaimer:

The Rib Roller Attachments, including striations, beads, and other custom features, are configured on a job-by-job basis. Due to the manual setup process, slight variations may occur from one project to another, and exact replication is not guaranteed. The depth, spacing, and centering of the Rib Roller Attachments are subject to change based on individual job requirements and setup adjustments.

If matching an existing project previously completed by Western States Metal Roofing, the customer is required to provide a physical sample. This allows us to achieve the closest possible match; however, exact duplication is not assured. Western States Metal Roofing is not liable for minor discrepancies that may arise due to the inherent nature of manual setup.
